Project Documentation Instructions - Part 1.1: Design

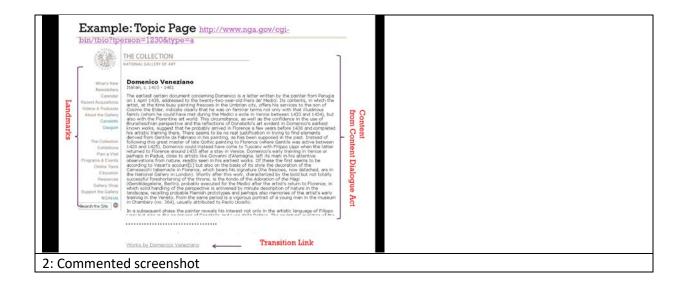

Workflow

Consider the theme assigned for your exam session. Look at examples of web sites on similar themes.

- Design in-the-large: Create the graphical representations of C-IDM schema and L-IDM schemas. The L-IDM schema must be consistent with the C-IDM specifications. Add some textual comments if needed
- Design in-the-small: create the in-the-small specifications of the pages of your application. For each page and page type:
 - o page structure such as Fig. 1A or 1B (with comments!)
- COMMENTED screen shot taken from your application (to highlight the meaning of the various pieces of the pages, e.g., the link types, orientation info, etc.
- DB design: describe the E-R diagram and the relational tables for the main pages
- Report 2-3 scenarios: for each scenario
 - Describe it TEXTUALLY;
 - Provide a sequences of commented miniaturized screenshots (Fig 2) from your application that the user would traverse to execute the scenario. The miniaturized screenshots must highlight (e.g., using a circle around a link or an arrow towards a link) what element has been activated to trigger the transition to the following page/screenshot

What to report and deliver

The deliverable of this part of the exam consists of a Design document that includes the following sections:

- 1. Cover: Title + Group members with names and email + Delivery date
- 2. Abstract (3-5 lines that describe what the document is about)
- 3. Graphical representations: C-IDM schema and L-IDM schema
- 4. 2-3 Scenarios
- 5. Design-in-the small of the main pages of your P-IDM schema
- 6. DB Design (E-R diagram and Relational Tables for the main pages)

Team-member names MUST appear in the footer or header for all pages;

The file MUST be named as follows:

Group-member1 surname, Group-member2 surname, Group-member3 surname-P1-delivery date

Where and when to deliver

ALL required material must be delivered on Beep on the official exam date – REMEMBER TO REGISTER TO THE EXAM! Otherwise no way to record your final score
